Status of Application.

In response to the applicant's amendment received on 6/5/01. The examiner has considered the new presentation of claims and applicant arguments in view of the disclosure and the present state of the prior art. And it is the examiner's position that claims 16-22 remain unpatentable for the reasons set forth in this office action:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

- W.D.
Advisory.
1. Claims 16-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Specifically, support could not be found (in the original specification) for the adapter to control the power to the profusion device as currently claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Art Unit: 2635

2. Claims 16-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dais (5524213) and Omori (5820414) together or alternatively in combination with Schenk (5444626).

Dais shows a medical communication system which includes a bus and interface units connected to the bus and also to peripheral units. See col. 1 line 11+. The interface units generate messages in the form of digital data packets. Dais does not expressly show the interface unit to be within a housing and have different shaped coupling means for coupling to the bus, and the peripheral.

In an analogous art, Omori shows an interface adapter which connects a circuit board 1 to a bus 19a. The interface adapter includes processing elements 16 and 17 and includes connector means which have different shaped couplers as claimed, to provide connection and improvement of the IC card. Omori shows a controller, which provides power to the slave device through the adapter. See col. 7 lines 38+.

The examiner takes note that a profusion device is a well known medical instrument that would have fallen under the medical application taught by Dais.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have utilized an interface unit in the shape of Omori in the Dais system in order to provide connection and improvement to the peripheral unit of Dais.

With regard to the newly added limitations, it has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138. If such a limitation were given weight, it is submitted that Dais shows the modules 2-5 which communicate to the control unit 1 in addition to other modules. Additionally Schenk (5444626) also shows a communication adapter, which communicates information to other modules in addition to a control unit.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 6/5/01 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The applicant argues that the references do not show an adapter having a controller, which controls electrical power to the slave device. Omori does show a controller, which provides power to the slave device through the adapter. See col. 7 lines 38+.

Conclusion

Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
